COURSE DESCRIPTION AND OBJECTIVES

JPN 301 is a third-year Japanese course, designed for students who have acquired elementary and intermediate levels of Japanese. This course expects students to communicate in Japanese with deeper socio-cultural knowledge. You will be able to communicate on the various topics such as: health and illness, feelings/emotions, careers/occupations, at post office, media, and culture and customs. Japanese writing system (Hiragana, Katakana and Kanji) will be used throughout this course to build higher reading and writing skills. You are expected to read and write essays in Japanese.

GRADING POLICIES:

5) Final Exam	25%	82- 80% = B-	59 or below =F
Total 100%

COURSE POLICIES

1. Attendance and Participation Policy: IMPORTANT!

Japanese classes offer an important opportunity for students to be exposed to authentic Japanese. Therefore, you are expected to come to class regularly, on time, and to participate in all class activities. First two absences will not affect your grade. (Your other grade (e.g. Exam) will be affected if they are not excused absences.) Each additional absence will result in the loss of 2% from your total grade. Please note that doing any activities below 3 times will be counted as one absence. They are (1) tardy, (2) early departure, (3) leaving more than 5 minutes during class and (4) any activity that destructs your participation such as using a cell phone (or any electronic device), eating food and doing homework in class. After 8 absences, student will receive a warning to drop the course (if it's before the last day to drop). Contact your instructor if your absence is justifiable (ex. religious holiday, UNLV extracurricular activity, emergency situation with the official documentation to support it).

2. Homework and Assignments:

All homework is due within the first 15 minutes of class on the designated day unless your instructor tells you differently. Homework that is late will be accepted if it is submitted by the beginning of next class. However, there will be 30% reduction of your grade for the late assignment. All the homework must be completed entirely in order to receive credit. Homework that has too many errors will be reassigned (to re-do). You can receive up to 90% for re-do work if you turn it in at the beginning of next class. Absolutely no credit will be given if your assignment is done or is submitted by someone else. This also applies if your assignment is done during class or if it was copied from someone else's work. Contact your instructor before due date if you have any questions or problems.

Kanji Homework: Use the Kanji Practice Sheet to take notes in class and to do the Kanji homework.

3. Quizzes

There will be frequent quizzes and students are allowed to drop the one lowest score. You cannot make-up a quiz for any circumstances.

4. Essays/Presentation/Interview

You will be assigned to write an essay and participate in presentation and interview. The instructor will announce the details later.

5. Chapter Exams and the Final Exam

There will be 3 chapter exams (Exam 3 will be shorter) and a comprehensive final exam. No make-ups are given without submission of the official documentation that validates justifiable nature of the absence.

6. Academic Dishonesty/Misconduct:

Academic Dishonesty/Misconduct includes, but is not limited to: Cheating, Getting External Assistance, and Plagiarism.

- Cheating on the quizzes and exams are not allowed in class. The actions during the quiz/test considered as cheating (but are not limited to) are: having cell phone out, looking at other student's quiz/test, putting your hands in your bag, communicating with others and looking at any form of cheating material.

- Any assignments including project and essays must be completed entirely by each student without any external assistance. Your tutor/friend cannot change your assignments and essays in any way and you should not copy other person's work. If you need help with your assignments and essays, contact your instructor. Online translations will be considered as the external assistance.

Consequences:

Any student found to have committed academic dishonesty/misconduct will receive a grade of "F" for the work.

Instructor will notify the student and have a private meeting before the grade of "F" is given. Once the act of dishonesty is proved, the instructor is required to report it, no matter how large or small, to the Japanese Program, the Department and the University. Students may appeal a finding of academic dishonesty/misconduct to the Department Chair and then go through the University's appeal process.

Academic Dishonesty Policy (UNLV): Japanese Program will follow the Academic Dishonesty Policy and Procedure of UNLV.

Any form of academic dishonesty is not allowed and will not be tolerated at UNLV. Violations of academic honesty will be reported for appropriate action. (Refer to the undergraduate catalogue, p. 61-66 or <http://studentlife.unlv.edu/judicial/misconductPolicy.html>)

STUDENTS' RESPONSIBILITIES*1. Preview the lesson:

You MUST study Vocabulary and Kanji assigned for each lesson and read "Grammar" and "Expression Notes" sections in the textbook before class in order to understand class lectures and activities. Use the "Genki" website and the Student CD to practice listening.

2. Add, Drop and/ or Withdraw:

The last day to drop or withdraw from classes or change from credit to audit is November 2, 2009. Drops and withdrawals will not be allowed after this date even with the instructor's approval. The instructor must assign a final grade if a student stops coming to class and fails to withdraw by the deadline.

3. Getting Assistance:

If things become unclear and difficult, it is your responsibility to take the initiative and contact the instructor for assistance after class or during the instructor's office hours.
